

Study of Phases of Teaching: Pre-active, Inter-active and Post-active

Dr. Anill Kumar Taneja, Assistant Professor, Shri Ganesh College Of Education,
Bali Brahmanan, Gohana

Introduction : Teaching is an integral part of the process of education. It is a system of actions intended to induce learning. Its special function is to impart knowledge, develop understanding and skill. In teaching an interaction occurs between the teacher and the students., by which the students are diverted towards the goal. Thus the sole element of teaching is the mutual relationship or the interaction between the teacher and the students which advances the students towards the goal.

Teaching can be considered as the art of assisting another to learn by providing the information and appropriate situations, conditions or activities .It is an intimate contact between a more mature personality and a less mature one which is designed to further the education of later. The process by which one person helps other in the achievement of knowledge, skill and aptitudes.

Phases of teaching

Teaching is a complex task. For performing this task, a systematic planning is needed. Teaching is to be considered in terms of various steps and the different steps constituting the process are called the phases of teaching. The teaching can be divided into three phases:

ISSN : 2278-6848

9 772278 684800 03
© International Journal for Research Publication and Seminar

Phases of teaching

Note : For Complete paper/article please contact us info@jrps.in

Please don't forget to mention reference number , volume number, issue number, name of the authors and title of the paper